

On-line production inspection

Independent evaluations to ensure client requirements are observed during production.

Product quality control in overseas production is usually focused on finished goods. However, manufacturing process specifications are not always checkable on finished products and require specific inspection during production to ensure that production system and production steps are being followed.

Our solution:

Applus+ qualified inspectors verify on the production site that all your requirements are really meet during production:

- Quality inspection amid production
- Witness testing
- Sampling for testing and validation
- Production line assessment

Benefits:

- Enhance brand risk management with expert inspections during production
- Ensure all the steps of your production
- Applus+ Laboratories neutral inspection reports and certificate serve as strong proof of the quality and reliability of your products.
- One-stop solution to ensure quality of your products, from initial supplier audit to loading supervision of the finished goods
